FRIDAY MORNING, DEC. 21, 1855.

We announced the death, a few days ago, of the Rev. Joshua Bradley, at Saim; impossible for him to discuss it fully. Paul's, Minnesota, having reached a good old age. Mr. Bradley was Paster of the Second Baptist Church, in this city, about fifty years ago, and probably haptized more persons during his ministration than any other Paster has since that time. On Sunday afternoon next, at half past 2 o'clock the Rev. Dr. Choules will preach a sermon on the life and character of Mr. Bradley; it will undoubtedly be an interesting discourse, and there will probably be a large audience present as most of our older citizens who know Mr. Bradley during his Pastorial will be anxious to hear this sermon, feeling that full justice will be done to the deceased by the learned and able Divine who is now Pastor of the Church,

George Sumner, Esq., of Boston will deliver a lecture before the mechanics Association, at Acquidneck Hall, this evening, at 7 o'clock,

Morilia and Willis's Hone Journal FOR 1856 .- This brilliant, fortile, and popular paper offers a new inducement to subscribers for the next year, viz: A novel in serial numbers, by Mr. Willis, whos versatile genius need no comment. The title is " Paul Fane, or Parts of a Life Untold." In this production, we may confidently look for something piquant, original, and Willissy. General Morris will' also lend the attractions of his pen in a series of original shetches, songs, and ballads; and to show us that there is something new under the oun, although it would seem to be high up in the heavens, we are promised "The Story of a Star," a novelette in verse, founded upon fact, by J M. Field, the popular "Straws" of the New Orleans Picayune. Everything elsev thought of or unthought of, in the columns of this Journal-spicy correspondence sparkling stories, dainty and memorable moreeaux, criticism-candid and corelultogether with a universal chronicle of facts and fushious, news, novelties, and notorieties. These will be interspersed with moral essays, and a running account of the progress and improvements of the age .-What clse can any one require in a weekly theel, and where else can such an attrac tive medley be found as our friends Morris & Willie promise us in their series of the Home Journal? SECOND TRIAL OF WM. ARRISON, IN CINCINNATI.-The trial of Wm. Arrison for the murder of Issue Allison, on the 26th of June, 1854, being set for yesterday, the prisoner was brought into court. Though the general interest manifested at the former trial is not now discovered in this case, a large number of persons thronged the branch of the Common Pleas, in which the case was set ; many, no doubt, as ordinary speciators, but the jurors and witnesses contributed to swell the number considera bly. Arrison looks well, syinces considerablo interest in the proceedings, (taking copious pencil notes in examination of per sons called as jurors, &c.,) but nothing nervous solicitude is betraved by him : any time. The plea of autrefois convic heretofore offered was overroled by Judg-Parker, and the prisoner being then calle on to plead, put in the plea of "not guilty." -Cincinnati Enquiror, Isac, 11.

POPULAR EDUCATION.—At the last monthly meeting of the Connecticut His torical Society, Hon. Henry Barnard, the President, presented a paper relating to th ! amount of donations, bequest, &c. mad : for educational, literary, and scientific purposes in the United States. The whol amount of land appropriated by the Genera Government for educational purposes to the 1st of January, 1854, was stated to b 52,970,231 acres; which, at the minimum price of such lands when first brought int market, represented the magnificent sur of $66,000,000, but which at this tim could not be worth less than $200,000,000 The amount of the donations and subscrip tions by individuals far exceeds all the had been given by State Legislatures .-Mr. Barnard read from a table exhibitia the donations and bequests made by citizen. of Boston within the last century, amount ing upwards of $4,000,000.

SENATE.-Mr. Clayton presented me morials praying for indemnity for French spoliations prior to 1800. He proposed only to say now, that he should call up the subject and address the Senate on it.

The President's veto message was recelved last session so late as to render it

He believed the single idea upon which the whole of the message was predicted was an error of fact. It proceeded on the ground that claimants were paid under the treaty of Louisiana, 1803, but the records in the State department show that this wos not the case. He would discuss the subiect fully at a future day.

Mesars, Broadhead and Crittenden presented memorials from naval officers, complaining of the action of the Naval Retiring Board.

Mr. Jones, (Tonn.) submitted a resolu tion, calling on the Scarciary of the Navy for the proceedings of that Board, and for the evidence on which they acted.

Mr. Clayton thought the subject should be discussed in open session.

House .- Mr. Thorington withdraw his resolution providing for the election of a Speaker by plurality, as members desire a further vote riva voce, but said he would renew the position to day or to morrow.

Mr. Campbell of Ohio, said there were some things mentioned in the discussion yesterday which might create a disposition, on his part, to reply, paricularly to Mr. Humphrey Marshall, who would read out of the American organization every member of this body, who has not come here with a padleck on his tongue.

This discussion he regarded as premature, but he was willing to meet the gentleman, agreeing with him as he did on the material points of Americanism, on the one hand, and the unbreken phalaux of the advocales of the Nebraska bill on the oth-

He desired to throw no obstacles in the way of an organization, and hoped the clerks would proceed to call the roll.

The House then proceeded to vote, but result was announced, Mr. McMullen inquired whether it was in order to make a call of the House.

Some gentlemen were absent now, thinking the time would be occupied in debate. He did not know whother the last vote clected a Speaker or not.

The Clerk said-No' election this vote. The following was the result:

PETRARCH'S WORD .- Petrarch, a celebrated Italian post, who flourished 400 years ago, recommended bimself to the confidence and affection of Cardinal Colona. in whose family he resided, by his cander and strict regard to truth. A violent duarrel having occurred in Cardinal Colona's household's he Cardinal wishing to decide with justice, he assembled all his people, and obliged then to bind themselves by a solemn oath on the Gospel to declare the whole truth. Every one without exception submitted to his determination, even the Cardinal's brother, Bishop of Lupa, was not excused .-Petrarch, in hisaturn, presented himself to tal'e the outh; the cardinal closed the book and said, " As to you, Petrarch, your word is sufficient."

THE RAILBOAD ACROSS FLORIDA .- The entarprise of constructing a railroad across the peninsula of Florida, so as to bring the Gulf and Atlantic ports into more immediate intercourse, is becoming a subject of considerable interest. The "Charleston Standard" is indebted to a friend in Florida for a few facts in relation to its pro-

"We are at worklon the road with about three hundred hands, and are pressing forward with every hope of success. We have a large force on the trestle and bridge across Amelia marsh and river, and expect to have a train of cars running from this point twenty miles out by the 1st of June next. We learn, also, that one of your enterprising morchants intends in a very few days to have a steamer on the route inland from your city to this place, making this elly her terminus. We want a name for the Atlantic City. I think it should be called the City of Florida What think you? We expect to send you the products of the whole State through this place in a fow years, and I see no good reasons against calling it Florida. We commenced only two months ago, and already we have a large hotel and several other buildiags going up."

A hoat was sent to Sandy Cay, 43 miles distant, and returned on the 9th with the wrecking schooner Defiance, which took off a portion of the passengers and carried them to Nassau.

The remainder of the passengers, with Capt. Gray and the crew, afterward chertered the brigantine. Alma to convey them and the mails to their destination.

Observations were taken during the day that the accident occurred, and soundings were taken up to the time of striking. It is supposed that the setting in of a strong Southeasterly current caused the disaster.

A SPIRITED ARTIST .- At a dinner given by the late Duke of Cambridge; the Queen's uncle, a celebrated painter, Guidn, was present. The Duke gave him a formal how, but presently a knot of poets, politicians and others gathered round him What-what-what Is that ? Who-who who is he?' said the Duke. 'That, your oyal highness, is Gudin, the great French painter.' 'How-great-great is he ?-Introduce him again. Painter, is he? Her majesty loves pictures. He must go-he must go to court." An attendant whispered that he could not go to court as a painter, but, as he had formerly been a lieutenant in the French army, he might be presented as an officer. The Duke made the proposition to Gudin. The painter, drawing himself up to his full height, replied proudly, in the hearing of all, "The King of France made me a licutement; God made me a painter. I will go to court as a painter, or not at all.

PERNSYLVANIA COAL. - The whole amount of coal sent to market from the antharatic regions of Pennsylvania, during the year 1855, is now accermined to be about six millions four hundred thousand tonsan increase over 1854 of about seven hun dred and fifty thousand tons. It is fair toestimate that this has brought money into the State at the rate of about three dollars a ton, so that Pennsylvania has realized from her anthracite coal mines over nineteen millions for dollars during a single year. The additional advantage she had goined in the immense amount of profitable labor this coal busines yields to a large portion of her population, and the employment it gives upon her public works, cannot be estimat-

It is to be regretted that there is no method of ascertaining the amount and value of the bituminous coal dug out and sent to market from the Western parts of the Sinte. If this could be known, the money given to Pennsylvania in exchange for her coal would appear, perhaps, filty per cent greater. But, even as it is, enough is known to show that Pennsylvania, in her coal deposits, possesses a means of wealth which begins to compare with the gold deposits of California. In value, our coal product already exceeds that of either of our crops- wheat, corn or oals. Thirty years have built up this enormous and renumerative business. In the next thirty years, with greater capital, new tailroads and canals, more extended markets, vaster population, and increasing manufactures, the coul product of Pennsylvania bids fair to equal all her argricultural products and to surpass the annual yield of gold from California.-Phila. Bulletin.

DISEASE AMONGST HORSES,-The dis temper among horses, before alluded to in the papers, is prevailing to an alarming extent among the horses at the city stables, as many as nine valuable unimals having been affected at one time. A day or two since, one fine horse, owned by the city and valued at over $300. died from this disease, and two or three others of less value have also falling victims. They are first taken with entire loss of appetite, fellowed by excessive tremor and weakness. Several valuable horses have died elsewhere in this vicinity, from the same disease, within the past few days .- Boston
